Deckstress is one of the most practical, commercial, and mind-blowing card tricks ever released for the strolling magician

Tim Ellis has FINALLY tipped his signature close up card trick, the one that has got him more repeat bookings than all of his other tricks combined!

From a face up fan of cards a spectator is asked to name ANY card they like. They can even change their mind! Once they settle on one card (four of hearts, for example) it is removed from the deck and given to them.

There is NOTHING written on the backs of any other cards, the magician shows every card, but when the spectator turns their card over, written on the back in bold Sharpie is I KNEW YOU WOULD CHOOSE THE FOUR OF HEARTS!

The reactions are STUNNING!

* YES! It is possible to repeat the trick.

* YES! The writing on the back can include their name I KNEW YOU WOULD CHOOSE THE FOUR OF HEARTS DAVID!

* YES! You can charge your clients extra for a "customised trick" promoting their company - XEROX KNEW YOU WOULD CHOOSE THE FOUR OF HEARTS!

* YES! You can use it as an unbelievable business card - I KNEW YOU WOULD CHOOSE THE FOUR OF HEARTS - TIM ELLIS 9486 4445

This is incredibly versatile, extremely practical, and requires ABSOLUTELY NO TECHNICAL SKILL.

You WILL add this trick to your repertoire immediately and as soon as you perform it you'll know this was the best $10 you've ever spent in magic!
