A card is chosen, signed, some magic is passed and now the card is blank, we borrow a lighter and with the fire we make the spectator's card appear.

A card is chosen and we take out of an envelope (the Joker) we say that it is valid for all the cards and then the magician turns it over it is blank and with a candle he makes the card that the spectator took appear. The magician takes out of his wallet a prediction the King of Diamonds, the sample says that now the spectator draws a card and that it will coincide with the prediction, the spectator draws the 5 of hearts.
