AN EXTRAORDINARY BOOK TEST USING ANY DICTIONARY

The mentalist proposes an experiment that has to do with all the possible words of the Italian language (or any other language) and takes a dictionary of the language in question.

He scrolls through the pages and asks the viewer to tell him stop when he wants, to read a word and memorize it.

He does the same thing with a second viewer who explicitly asks to look at all the possible words contained in the two pages he stopped at and to freely choose one.

At this point the mentalist is able to identify the two words.
