La Ville Magic Presents From A Distance By Lars La Ville

The magician ask the spectator to name a number from 5 to 15.This gonna be our lucky number.

The spectator shuffle the deck and show around half of the cards to the magician.

The magician are now thinking of a card.The spectator now secretly deal a new number of cards down to the table and remove some of the cards that are dealt down.

These cards are placed back on the deck,and the spectator now deals as many cards down as the lucky number was.Now the spectator discard every second card until there is only one card back in the spectators hand.The magician now removes the thought of card of the deck, and when both cards are turned around, it's a match.
