A prediction that goes wrong goes right!

Your spectator picks a card and hides it from you. You read their mind and write down what you think their card is on the back of your card box in dry erase pen. When you show your prediction it is wrong. You ask them to watch the ink and it transforms into the card they are thinking of. You can now wipe the ink away. A fun and impossible routine.

Easy to build at home.

Very visual.

Fun to perform.
