A trick with two decks of cards!

Imagine magician shows two decks and the spectator selects one. They pick a random card and place it between 2 red Kings.

After that the magician shows the second deck, and takes out the two red Kings, with just by a snap of your fingers, 2 red Kings catch one card, and that card was same as the card that spectator choose from the first deck. An impossible transposition.

- No force
- Easy to do
- Spectator shuffles themselves.
