"I Love it! Such a diabolical, but simple method! I'm definitely going to make this up. It's so clean to be able to hand the cards out, they can shuffle them and choose any one they like while in their own hands. That's so cool!"
- Marc Paul

"I learned David Alnwick's 'Name Drop' this morning, I made the props in under half an hour and performed it at a gig the same evening. This is something I put right into a corporate show the same day I learned it. The method is so simple, and plays for any size group. Highest recommendation ever. It's something that's going to live in my case and my repertoire for years to come. Another home run by David Alnwick."
- Joe Diamond

"Name Drop is another brilliant creation from the estimable Mr. Alnwick. It's easy to learn, simple to perform and devastatingly fooling. Highest recommendation"
- Mark Elsdon

"I decided I wouldn't give testimonials unless I intended to include the effect in my repertoire. This one I definitely will. It's brilliant - so simple to do, yet completely deceptive. I love it."
- Marc Oberon

FAQ

Do I make the cards myself?

I provide the full instructions to make the Name Drop cards. All you need are some billets or blank cards and a couple of pens. I've been using the same set for years.

Can the cards be examined?
Yes. The participants handle the cards themselves.

Is it difficult to learn?
I guarantee you'll be performing the effect within minutes of making up the cards. It's incredibly easy to do.
