

Absolute Zero (Gimmick and Online Instructions) by SansMinds - Trick

"Absolute Zero is THE ultimate device to make you look like you have superpowers! I love it!!! I'm adding this to my Superman act immediately."

- Morgan Strebler

"I've always been a fan to Frozen and Sandminds just took it up a notch and make it practical in real world. This is as close to real super power you can get."

- Patrick Kun

In 2009, magician Adam Grace introduced his very own choreography that made it possible to adapt a real science experiment into a magic performance. Inspired by Adam's prior work, is the newest addition to the SansMinds Pro Series: Absolute Zero; a devious DEVICE that took three years of development. It's designed to allow you to perform the scientific phenomenon with less restriction and more flexibility. It's like having a superhero power in your pocket that you can perform ANYTIME and ANYWHERE.

Just imagine having the power to freeze objects in your spectator's hand with just a simple blow.

Absolute Zero is a pocket size liquid nitrogen pressure container made with precise inner pressure point calculation. When triggered the contained liquid will go through a reversed valve that is designed to release the liquid nitrogen in liquid form.

Bonus Special Feature:

It is the perfect device to reset "Blossom by Will Tsai" on the go (or any memory metal).

With this intricate device that's easily concealed in the palm of your hands, there is no complicated set-up, preparation, or choreography. It just sits in your pocket waiting for the right moment to shine.

The best part is that the device doesn't do the magic for you. YOU do.

You have complete control on when you want to cover the object in frost.

Admit it, you've dreamed of having superpowers. Finally, a practical secret weapon that gives you a super hero power at your disposal.
