

Searching Jokers by Henry Evans - Rot - Kartentrick

A twist of a classic effect -- it's a "sandwich card" without cutting or changing the deck order! A spectator selects a card, which remains face down on the table. Jokers are placed into a second deck, almost at the ends of the deck. The deck is closed and spread apart again - the jokers have magically moved closer to the center of the deck, as if searching for the selected card. Again it's closed and opened, and they now are in the center with only one card sandwiched between them. This card and the spectator's card are turned face up - an exact match!

It's very visual and works automatically.
