

Celebrikey BATMAN by Matthew Wright - Mentaltrick

Celebrikey by Jamie Williams and Matthew Wright is a marvelous new addition to any professional working repertoire. It is easy to perform, can be taken with you everywhere you go, it's always ready to go, it resets instantly... but most importantly... it is a knock-out effect.

Some say the best magic happens in the spectators minds, some say the best magic happens in the spectators hands... Celebrikey does both!

You take a regular key from your pocket or keyring and let a spectator hold it and then study it. They see and feel it is a regular key before they slowly close their hand around it... keeping it in full view the entire time. The magician does not touch the key again until after the effect is finished.

The spectator now chooses a random celebrity or superhero. They could just think of one or choose one from a stack of business cards, a list of famous addresses or even some Top Trump Cards.

Once the selection is made the spectator can now open their closed hand to reveal the key. It has visibly changed from a regular key to a 3D sculpt of the superhero they selected.

The key is now handed out for inspection and everything can be examined fully.

Celebrikey is a modern classic suitable for all skill levels.

Comes with specially designed gimmicks and comprehensive 45 minutes instructional download.