
Refilled Henry Harrius

You first introduce an empty glass bottle (corona), a paper bag and an opener as a "magic wand". After some jokes that is naturally built into the routine, the bottle is magically refilled in a completely sealed state! The beer can immediately be handed out as your spectators enjoy the rest of your show drinking it. With the cleverly-refined routine, the spectator can now touch and even hear the empty bottle before the effect. This truly added a lot of depths to the illusion and drastically increase the deception.

Refilled is a beautiful spin-off of Norm Nielsen's Classic Vanishing Bottle. With the permission of Norm Nielsen Magic, HHP Team developed the MOST REALISTIC bottle gimmick you can ever find on the market. This practical yet powerful routine is perfect for any of your parlor, stage, or even zoom shows.

"The vanish of a bottle in a paper bag is a popular piece. Henry has come up with a delightful version that both increase the deception and adds a new surprising ending."

- Tom Stone

"Henry's latest improvements on the vanishing bottle bring him one step closer to being a genius. This one is going into hidden wonders immediately."

- Shawn Farquhar

"This is the best, most realistic prop of its kind with a kicker ending any pro would be proud to use. I know I will."

- Eric Jones

"A very simple (and brilliantly produced) prop and a very simple routine is all that henry needs for our minds to effortlessly fool themselves. Cheers!"

- Pit Hartling
