
Rattle Box (Coins) by Jose Arcario

An original Nelson Downs gimmick and later improved by David Roth now made with the best tools and materials available.

If you do not know this gimmick, I will tell you that with it you can simulate the sound of coins colliding in your hand when it is empty, the sound achieved is better than with any other system on the market: because they really are coins ringing.

A piece of the history of magic, practically a collector's item. As they are manufactured one by one and carefully supervised, production has been very limited in terms of units, so there will only be for the fastest.

The gimmick is included to be used with half dollar size coins (or any other smaller one to your liking) that are not included.
