
Hundo Heist by Artifice & Craft

Imagine at your command you make Ben Franklin completely disappear from your note.

Take it one step further and with no switch or shading handlings. You begin to blur your audiences minds by transforming your bill into a blurred note.

This effect includes 3 highly visual $100 bill transformation options to add to your social media videos and virtual show performances.

In the second transformation option you take your $100 note and with a flick of the wrist you visually transform your bill from Ben Franklin to Salvador Dali the world renowned surrealist artist.

In the 3rd option, when you want to create a conversational piece you pull out your $100 bill and transform Ben Franklin into a Squid note. Your audience will recognize this character from the famous Netflix®™ series.

Each of these performance options can be easily added onto your gimmick. Nothing to ditch or palm, the gimmick is completely self contained.

The gimmick is precisely handcrafted and built ready to perform out of the package.

It's not a paper gimmick that wears down over time, its specifically designed to be durable and made from tear resistant material.

This effect was created as an eye catching opener to add to your favorite money routines. Hundo Heist will allow you to create highly visual bill transformations at the tip of your fingers, so visual it looks like CGI, but it's not.
