
Trio by The Other Brothers

A unique and memorable triple prediction.

"Trio" is everything you'd want in a parlor routine. It's engaging, funny and leaves audiences with a one-of-a-kind experience they'll never forget.

Three volunteers are invited to make various selections. From the audience's perspective, one of them is thinking of a famous person, another person is thinking of an animal and the last person is thinking of a fruit. For example, Albert Einstein riding a giraffe while eating an apple. This seems like a ridiculous combination. Yet, you're able to prove you knew they would make these choices in a hilariously visual way.

"Trio" is so much more than a simple trick though. It offers you the framework necessary to create a truly entertaining piece of stage or parlor magic that packs flat and can be brought with you anywhere. Creator Matthew Wright's personalized routine is based on his daughter's zany art homework assignments, but you can theme your routine however you'd like.

A variety of methods combine to create a truly powerful moment. There are different handlings taught for all skill levels and performance styles.

"Trio" comes with everything you need to start performing right away including large, full color predictions, a cloth bag (complete with a special gimmick), custom-made durable envelopes and comprehensive video instructions.
