

---

Master Color Prediction 2.0 by Max Vellucci and Alan Wong

Five spectators are asked to come up on stage and each of them takes an envelope at random.

After an introduction about the possibility of being able to influence the choices and behaviour of human beings, the mentalist asks the spectators on stage to position themselves in a seemingly random order.

The audience, however, once the envelopes are opened, discover five colored cards in a sequence that appears to be identical to the one drawn on a large poster on stage from the beginning of the experiment.

A real "grand illusion" of mentalism from scenic impact.

Master Color Prediction 2.0 is an upgraded version to one of Max's best selling products for years, a professional stage mentalism act first released only as a DVD, now the whole works are complete with all the props and gimmicks included, that completely packs flat, easy to carry and can play on the biggest stage. Detailed performance demo and online instructions are included.