
Innocence - Pokerdeck

"I didn't know that a deck of cards could look so beautiful" is only one of a lot of great reactions from laymen who have seen the Innocence Playing Cards. The deck served as canvas for the artist to express the paradox of love and suffering. You will notice the love in every detail awakened by emotions, which makes this deck unique in its kind.

This is the second print run of the Innocence Playing Cards which differs visibly from the first run due to the matte white tuck box and the redrawn standard face cards.
