
Out To Coloring by Laurent Villiger

Laurent Villiger has adapted to children the famous "Out To Lunch" principle. Show a pack of printed cards bearing coloring drawings. The drawing is pretty, but it lacks colors. After writing his or her name on the card, the child imagines the missing colors. When he or she flips the drawing over, it is fully colored. You will always have Out To Coloring with you because it is possible to present it in all situations: birthdays, baptisms, shows for children, but also at private parties, weddings, cocktails.

- Easy to do
- Interactive
- Instant reset
- High impact on children (but also on parents)
- Explanation video (French, English)