
SPARK by CIGMA Magic

SPARK, a miniature ignition device, can be easily hidden in almost any place desired, even behind cards or coins, waiting to light up objects at the planned moment.

Triggered by a remote control, SPARK makes things catch fire themselves as if it is pure magic. No unnecessary moves and unwanted sequence needed to achieve the effect. Everything looks so streamlined and natural in choreography.

What's even better? Equipped with a delicate and precise time-delay system, SPARK is smart enough to delay its response to its remote control in 3, 5, or 10 seconds. There is time for ambiance to be built up to culmination, and for the audience to be prepared to marvel at the impact of thrilling effects.
