
Smart Pen by Henry Evans

Are you looking for an amazing feat that happens in the hands of the spectator? One that is incredibly strong and combines two effects? Then Henry Evans has just the thing for you: Tell your audience about your late grandfather, whose spirit is always with you and mysteriously helps you with magic. With these words you bring out a deck of cards. The spectator freely chooses a card, which he shows to the audience and then returns to the deck. If you want, you can then shuffle the deck several times. And now your grandfather comes into play, helping you to find the chosen card. Take an ordinary drinking glass and place it face down on the table. Then place a simple pen on the glass and give the spectator the cards. The spectator himself deals one card after the other face down on the table. The pace is determined solely by the spectator. At some point, your grandfather's spirit intervenes and lets the pen fall from the glass! This happens precisely as the chosen card is dealt!!!

Everything works automatically. You do not need any dexterity. The spectator can do what he wants -- the pen always falls from the glass in the right place at the right time. The pen also works automatically - you do not need to do anything! The deck is never exchanged.

You will receive the pen and the deck of cards together with online video instructions by Henry Evans.
