
Balloon Prediction Deluxe by Mr. Magic

The performer draws the audience's attention to three inflated balloons of different colors (e.g., yellow, white and green) placed into a well-decorated panel standing on the table. According to the choice of the spectators, two balloons are made to burst one after another with a pin. Only one balloon out of three remains inflated. The performer now opens the small door just below the remaining balloon. It is seen that there is a vertical arrow pointing at the balloon. When the Performer opens the other two doors, no arrow is seen. Great mindreading trick to show you predicted which balloon would remain!
