
P&L Phantom Tube (7 inch) by P&L Magic

Considered to be one of the greatest and most perplexing production effects on the market. Manufactured by the famous Petrie Lewis (P&L Magic Company).

The tube is picked up from the table and can be held up to the light so that the audience can clearly see that it's completely empty. The tube is now held in the palm of the hand and the spectator is requested to make drum-heads by placing a thin tissue over each end and two metal rings to secure them. The paper drum heads are immediately broken and loads of silks and ribbons are now produced from the once empty tube.

Nothing is loaded during the presentation of the effect. It's easy, all self-contained and packs a big WOW! Can be used in both close-up and stage settings. Supply your own silks.
