

Romhany's Travel Book Test by Paul Romhany

If you have ever wanted to perform a book test but couldn't afford the high price tags - Romhany's book test now offers you a three phase routine complete with the specially designed book, at a very affordable price - you can start performing this almost instantly as the book does the work for you. There is nothing to memorize.

For the past twenty years Paul Romhany has been traveling and performing his magic all over the world, and has visited more than seventy five countries. Because of his extensive travel, he ended up writing a book for lay people on his top ten travel destinations. To help promote his book during his shows, he would perform a book test. Of course, the one he used during his show was a special book he had printed, to look like the one he sold - but this one was gimmicked and enabled him to perform a three phase book test routine with it.

EFFECT:

A book of holiday destinations is handed out, and a spectator thinks of a country, another chooses the first word on any page while another person looks at a paragraph and concentrates on an image. You take out three business cards and write down a country, the thought of word and draw the image that the spectator is thinking. There is nothing to memorize as the book does it all for you.

You can use this book test as a stand alone routine performing the three phase routine Paul does, or have it as an addition book test with the other books you may perform with already.

Comes complete with gimmick book and instructions.
