

SWB (Self Writing Blackboard) by Anton Corradin - Tricks

With this innovative device, you will be able to create the most amazing routines. The possibilities are endless. Test your creativity and accept the challenge to perform an original and unique act. We will just give you some examples of how to use it, so you will have an idea of the possibilities the S.W.B. will offer you once you have it in your own hands.

Write a prediction on the Self Writing Blackboard, and put it inside an envelope so nobody sees it. Then, hand the envelope over to someone in the audience. Ask for two volunteers to come to the stage and ask each one to say a number between 1 and 9. This way, a two-digit number will be formed. You can also ask them if they want to invert the order of the numbers so it will change the number.

When taking the blackboard out of the envelope (this action can be performed by the audience), we will find out that the number formed by the two volunteers is written on the blackboard.

You will be able to ask someone in the audience to think about a loved one that is no longer between us and that only the participant knows. His/her name or nickname will appear written on the blackboard.

You can go even farther!!! Put the blackboard without anything written on it and a chalk inside an envelope and leave it on a table. Now, ask ghosts to show they are present by writing on the blackboard. Then, you will take it out of the envelope and read the messages from the other world!

You can also write the number and suit of a poker card on the blackboard, then strew the cards facing up on a table and tell the participant to choose only one. At the same time, you explain him that he will be mentally induced to choose the letter written on the blackboard. Once he chooses the card, you just have to reveal the prediction.

In all the above cases, the blackboard can be checked by the audience.

Even though it seems crazy, this is really possible with Self Writing Blackboard. This blackboard created by Anton Corradin is much simpler to use and much more effective than any other blackboard existing on the market.

It's perfect for professionals that work in all kind of places.

It can be used for stand-up magic as well as close-up magic.

These are just a few possibilities with SWB, but using your imagination and personal style, you can create thousands of amazing effects of your own with this blackboard.

Comes complete with blackboard, envelopes and instruction sheet.
