

Wand Sanitizer by Alan Wong & Ben Hart - Trick

The Wand Sanitizer is your commitment to show your spectators that you have adjusted your performances and consideration for others in the changing world.

A magic wand is an essential tool for a magician, while a hand sanitizer is something everyone must carry living under the new norm.

At any moment, you can transform this elegant medical blue magic wand into a sanitizing spray device, for magical and personal hygiene practices.

This action is honestly all very serious, practical and funny at the same time!

A perfect comedy gag for visibly sanitize your hands, props and the hands of others before, during or after your performance, while reassuring your audiences and yourself of personal hygiene and preventing spreading of germs.

Use it as a normal wand and whenever you want to use the secret function, remove the cap to use it as a sanitizer or your "magic spray" for a guaranteed laugh and extra safety.

The Wand Sanitizer has a built in refillable spray bottle and must be used with alcohol-based liquid sanitizer (not included with purchase) typically contain some combination of isopropyl alcohol, ethanol (ethyl alcohol), or n-propanol, with versions containing 60% to 95% alcohol the most effective as germ killing disinfectant. Care should be taken as they are flammable. Keep out from the reach of children.
