

Alladin by Dominique Duvivier

A cascade of transformations!

But why the hell did you decide to perform this trick? The cards no longer obey you. They keep transforming in your hands. You don't know where to turn and your spectators are starting to wonder if the cards you are showing are not purely and simply evil.

At first, you simply wanted to do a trick with four 8 of Clubs. And then, disaster, you make the wrong magic gesture. The 8 of Clubs start to turn over by themselves, one by one, as if by magic.

Then, while trying to catch yourself, you accidentally change the color of the backs of the four cards. The backs were blue, everyone saw it! They turn red. Panic begins when you notice that the 8 have all disappeared and that you only have backs left! No more faces!

Little by little you resurface and, one by one, the faces magically return. Phew, you will finally be able to perform your trick.

It is then that you notice with amazement that all the backs of your cards have just transformed. They are now all multi-colored.

Just like you, your spectators will be totally amazed. You put your cards away, saying that sometimes, magic is stronger than the magician!

Strong points:

- You can of course invent your own scenario, the trick lends itself to many situations.
- The cards are in Bicycle quality.
- So many transformations with so few cards, it is simply impossible!
- Tremendous impact on the audience.
- Video link with detailed explanations.

What they think:

to the question: "What is your best small packet trick": My favorite is Alladin by Dominique Duvivier! I love this trick. So much so that I justified each step of the trick. A little marvel - Drago27
