

The Clink (Cap in Bottle) by larvel Magic and Wonder House (Coke)

Prepare to astonish your audience with Clink, a groundbreaking magic device born from the innovative collaboration between larvel Magic and Wonder House and is designed for magicians of all skill levels. The device simply revolutionaries the Cap-in-bottle and penetration effects.

BASIC EFFECT:

Casually place a chilled bottle of beer in front of your spectators and ask them to inspect it closely-turning it in their hands and checking for any flaws or tricks. Satisfied, they pass it back. You pick a bottle opener and open the beer. You pour a frothy glass for them, even taking a sip yourself to share the moment.

Then, you hold up the bottle and its cap in the air in for all the audience gathered to see. Then with a slow, deliberate motion, you tap the cap against the bottle's neck.

A sharp, unmistakable clink echoes and in an instant the cap is inside the bottle, resting at the bottom of the beer bottle.

No sleight of hand, no cover, no hint of deception-just pure, impossible magic in three effortless steps: inspection, the tap, and in it goes!

You hand the bottle to a skeptic in the crowd and ask them to inspect it again to see if it was the same bottle from before. They do, and as they shake it, the cap rattles inside, producing that same authentic clink of metal on glass, undeniable and real.

And just like that, a simple device have conquered the entire room.

KEY FEATURES:

- The Authentic Clink Sound: The device features a ceramic dual-structure, with solid sides and a soft core, which produces a convincing metal-on-glass clink that enhances the illusion, eliminating any doubt in the spectator's mind.
- Unprecedented Deception: Works with any borrowed bottle. No pre-show setup, no rubber bands, and no PK Rings are required. The method is entirely self-contained and utterly invisible.

- Instant Reset & Ready-to-Go: The effect resets in literally a second, making it perfect for strolling magicians and repeated performances. We also add a special tool to remove the device from the bottle after each performance.
- Audience Participation: Spectators can bring their own bottle or inspect yours thoroughly without any suspicion, ensuring a convincing and organic performance.
- Sleight-Free Execution: The included magnetic bottle opener enables a seamless, instant switch without complex techniques or misdirection.
- Built for the Real World: The device is crafted from durable materials to withstand professional use. Its ingenious design is simple to master, allowing you to focus on your presentation and misdirection.
- The Ultimate Version: Wonder House studied the market's limitations for years-from high price points to flawed methods-and engineered them all out. Clink is the definitive, no-compromise solution magicians have been waiting for.
