

McCombical Travel by Vernet Magic

McCombical Travel

is Vernet's fresh take on the timeless McCombical Prediction, now reimagined with colorful flag cards from countries all over the world.

Effect:

The magician shows a prediction card, it has a different back design and displays a flag that the entire audience can see. This card is handed to a spectator, who never looks at its face.

Then, the magician displays a series of large flag cards, naming different countries as if each card were different. The audience, however, can clearly see that every card has the same flag as the prediction.

The spectator finally says "stop" at one of the cards. When they turn over their prediction, the one they've been holding from the beginning, it shows a different flag from the one the audience saw at first!

The magician then turns over the chosen card... and incredibly it perfectly matches the new prediction.

A perfect blend of comedy, surprise, and strong visual magic, ideal for parlor, stage, or family shows.
