

FartBag - America's Original Fart Sound Maker

Farts on Command

Some inventions changed the world. The wheel. The steam engine, the internet, and then... the Fartbag.

Fartbag is the perfect prop for those who refuse to grow up or just want to make people laugh.

A gentle squeeze between your fingers, and you can produce anything from a nervous little "peep" to a confident "BRUUUUM" that makes everyone look.

No batteries. No charging. No manual required. If you can squeeze, you can fart.

Fartbag is perfect for:

- Parties where the ice needs breaking
- Families who take themselves way too seriously
- Offices with too many meetings and not enough humor
- Magicians who love mischief
- Anyone mature enough to laugh - and immature enough to admit it

And yes, Leslie Nielsen used it. Of course he did.

The original handheld fart machine, created by a PGA golfer who clearly spent more time making people laugh than making birdies. Duffy Martin built the very first version decades ago from black rubber and a baby-food jar lid - and yes, it worked. Maybe a little too well.

The Fartbag has been improved and refined over the years, but it is still made in the USA by the same dedicated people. No subcontractors, no mystery factories, no "cheap rubber with a suspicious aroma." Just clean, California-approved quality from start to finish.

Fartbag - Because life gets a little better when you can fart on command.
