

Glass Pierce X Refill by Chaow and JT Magic

Over the past few years, Glass Pierce X has become a widely shared visual street effect online. Created and refined by Chaow through more than a dozen real-world iterations, this project has accumulated tens of millions of views across social platforms.

Now, after years of testing and improvement, it is finally available to the magic community.

The Core Effect

A simple, impossible moment:

- The magician draws a mark on one side of a piece of glass.
- A spectator places their hand on the opposite side.
- The magician covers the drawn mark with their palm.
- In an instant, the mark visibly penetrates the glass...

and appears on the spectator's hand. No switches. No suspicious moves. Just a clean, visual transfer. It works on virtually any glass surface, so the moment can happen in real, everyday environments. Beyond Glass While the glass penetration is the signature moment, Glass Pierce X goes further. The gimmick allows for multiple variations, including:

- Mark transfers without using glass
- Creative routines built around visual mark movement
- Seamless integration into your existing close-up material

Why Performers Like It

- Visually striking yet simple
- Compact and easy to carry
- Suitable for street, close-up, and short-form video
- Direct, organic presentation
- Minimal setup

What's Included
