

Infinity Dream (Blue)

Six paper card boxes in a gradient of colors (transitioning from classic red/blue to pure white), nested layer by layer like the tiers of a dream. Each box is a fragment of memory planted by the Dreamweaver within the "dream within a dream"; every opening subverts the boundary between reality and illusion.

The Performance Story: The Dreamweaver's Memory Implantation Technique

In this world, there are Dreamweavers-they weave dreams, infiltrate consciousness, use "totems" to anchor reality, and reshape memory with "prophecies." When the audience thoroughly shuffles the deck (mixing cards face-up and face-down at random), the true magic begins:

- The Dream Begins: The audience's shuffle is the "outcome of the dream," not the process. The Dreamweaver's totem (a unique marker) suddenly vanishes, drawing the audience into a journey of "verifying the outcome within the dream."
- Layered Dreams: The magician opens the boxes one by one, each layer a deeper "dream." The prophecies on the backs of the boxes ("X cards are face-up," "X of them are red") match the audience's shuffled deck with uncanny precision-as if everything had been predetermined in the dream.
- Limbo and Return: When the final pure white box (Limbo) is opened, the totem reappears, symbolizing a return to reality. Yet, one card remains unaccounted for in the prophecies. The Dreamweaver reveals: True memory implantation is "fragmented"-each layer of the dream implants a piece, ultimately piecing together the complete truth in reality.
- The Ultimate Puzzle: Stacking all the boxes into a tower, the side reveals the complete image of that final card-all fragments of the dream finally reassembled in reality.

Enhanced Highlights:

Tailored for "Inception"

- Gradient Visuals: The transition from red/blue to pure white simulates the immersion of "deepening dreams ? Limbo ? reality," amplifying the atmosphere during performance.

- Totem System: The new "totem disappearance ? reappearance" interaction heightens the dramatic tension of the "reality anchor," making the boundary between "dream and reality" more compelling.
- Narrative-Driven: No longer just a "prophecy trick," but an immersive story of "memory implantation"-the audience are participants, not mere spectators.
- Material Continuity: Paper card boxes. Two colors: Red / Blue, compatible with commonly used Bicycle cards.

Why Choose Infinity Dreams?

- Close-Up Exclusive: Maximized use of space allows the "nesting + prophecy + totem" interaction to unfold entirely on the table, delivering even more intense close-up impact.
- Easy to Learn and Perform: The prop comes with a built-in "dream routine"-no complex sleight of hand required, allowing even beginners to embody the role of the Dreamweaver.
- Collectible Value: The gradient color scheme and totem design make it not only a performance tool but also a "dream specimen" for magic collectors.

Collect the Ritual of an "Inception"