

Logic Art by Kiyoshi Sato & Nojima

A brand-new packet trick from the "Emperor of the Underground", master creator Yoshinori Sato.

This is a stunning, story-driven card miracle in which the number of cards changes, the faces change, and even the backs change as the routine progresses.

Yet at the climax, the cards can be freely handed out for inspection.

Even more impressive: none of the original blue-backed cards remain. Everything has completely transformed.

When magician Nobuyuki Nojima first saw this effect, the cards literally changed in his own hands.

Because the cards can be examined immediately afterward, this allows for the strongest possible presentation - nothing to hide, nothing to switch.

All handling and techniques are explained clearly, so you can perform with confidence.

This is a high-impact packet trick that makes audiences gasp and makes magicians want to perform it the moment they see it.

Once you learn it, you will want to use it again and again.
