Blackpool 2026 New Release!

A Professional Tool for Forcing Written Information.

If you want your predictions to hit the mark with 100% accuracy every time, The Revelation Box is your ultimate assistant. This is a precision-engineered tool designed to force multiple pieces of written information in a clean and natural way.

The concept was inspired by the original Luca Volpe TBC Box.

Designed by Wenyu Liu.

Approved by Luca Volpe, Paul McCaig, and Alan Wong.

You fold a flat-packed board into a box. Audience members randomly write words on slips of paper, fold them, and drop them inside. A volunteer is then asked to draw four specific colored notes: Yellow, Purple, Blue, and Red.

When the contents of these four notes are combined, they form the exact message, word, or prediction you intended to present. The process is transparent and leaves no room for suspicion.

The Revelation Box blends ultimate practicality with sleek portability. The operation is intentionally streamlined, free of cumbersome steps or complex handling, allowing even beginners to master the mechanics instantly.

For those on the move, the box is fully collapsible. It folds flat for effortless storage, and can be unfolded and assembled in seconds. This allows you to show the interior to your audience in a clean, elegant manner before the performance begins.

It adopts hand-stitched craftsmanship as a whole, matched with the contrast color of deep blue and pure white, with an exquisite and elegant appearance, perfectly adapting to various professional performance scenarios.

The included instructions go far beyond basic operation. You will learn an exclusive commercial routine polished by Luca Volpe. It will show you how to maximize the drama and impact of the Revelation Box.
