

Rising Card by Mickaël Chatelain

A spectator chooses a card, let's say the 4 of Hearts.

Using a marker, draw a prediction on the back of another card! Show your drawing. It does indeed represent a card, but unfortunately, it's not the right one, and your spectator will immediately point this out.

Explain that the drawing doesn't represent the chosen card but a deck of cards, and that therefore the chosen card is indeed in that deck!

Then ask for the name of the card chosen a few minutes ago... The spectator tells you, "The 4 of Hearts."

Invite your spectator to look at your drawing, then call out the 4 of Hearts...

Believe it or not, a card rises from your drawing, a card begins to emerge like a classic oracle, but on your drawing... a card... the spectator's card! A oracle in drawing form! Give the card to your spectator... a unique and impossible souvenir!

You've seen a rising, but wait until you see this version—it's incredible! Here's why:

- * You can draw your prediction on the cellophane of your case. The effect is even more amazing because at the end, you completely erase your prediction... there's nothing left to see, it's mind-blowing!

- * Your prediction will be different every time you perform it! This means RISING is perfect for close-up magic!

- * Personalize your predictions! Yes, with RISING, it's possible! Why not draw a hat? The spectator's card will slowly emerge from it!

- * A professional gimmick that takes care of everything! You'll master it in just a few minutes. Trust us, you'll love it!

The trick comes complete, even with a pencil! In less than 3 minutes, you'll have mastered RISING.
