

Photomental by Maureen

The magician shows a spectator a small transparent card. He asks the spectator to select a playing card from a well shuffled deck and then to lend him his cell phone. Next The magician hands the transparent card over to the spectator inviting him to hold it up in front of him. The spectator is now invited to concentrate on his card while the magician takes a photo with the spectator's cell phone. Once the photo is shot, the spectator will see in the photo ON HIS OWN cell phone that his selected card magically appeared on of the transparent card he was holding!

Finally with colorful and eye-catching packaging!

- Easy to do!
- The deck of cards is not included.
- The card can be shown either at the beginning or at the end of the game and may differ from the one shown in the video.
