

Necklace Microphone Holder Ver.3 by JL

You've probably had to perform with nothing but a handheld wireless mic. But for a magician, having both hands free is a must.

With this microphone holder, you can finally perform at your best!

It's worn around the neck and made from a flexible, shapeable steel cable that easily fits any body type. The sturdy clamp keeps the mic securely in place, giving you complete freedom of movement.

It's designed mainly for wireless microphones, but it can also be used with wired handheld mics. In that case, it works perfectly—the only difference is that the cable might slightly restrict your movement during the performance.

Plus, the same holder can be used as a handy tabletop mic stand, ideal for lectures, close-up performances, or any situation where you need a stable, low-profile place to set your microphone.
