

Hello by Blake Vogt

Hello

is a brand new concept in visual magic with a souvenir ending your spectators can keep.

You show a blank "Hello, my name is" sticker, write something on it, and then it visually changes right in front of your audience. But unlike most flap cards, acrobatic cards, or visual change gimmicks, the moment does not end dirty. You can actually peel off the sticker and hand it to your spectator as a completely examinable keepsake.

The gimmick is modular, which means you are not locked into one routine or one look. You can remove the included stickers and add your own "Hello, my name is" stickers, custom stickers, logos, drawings, predictions, reveals, or anything else you can imagine.

And because of the material used, the surface also works with dry erase markers. Remove the stickers, write directly on the gimmick, wipe it clean, and use it again.

With a little sleight of hand, you can even create two visual changes in one routine before handing out the final sticker. One change. Another change. Then they keep the impossible object.

Hello comes with 25 sticker refills and a detailed video tutorial where Blake teaches multiple handlings, techniques, strategies, and routine ideas. You will learn everything from easy beginner friendly methods to more advanced sleight of hand approaches for creating the change.

Simple, visual, modular, customizable, and examinable.

Say Hello to your new favorite visual change.
