

Daily Case by Joshua Kaufmann & Fedora Magic & N2G (Max)

An EDC peek device, switching device, and card-to-wallet - without the wallet

With Apple Pay and other cashless methods becoming common, many performers don't carry a wallet every day. Daily Case is a modern everyday-carry option that brings familiar utility-wallet capability into something you already have with you: your phone.

Inspired by the practicality of classic working wallets and the thinking behind the Sight Unseen Case, Daily Case allows for peek, load, switch, and card-to-wallet style applications in a phone-based format. It replaces the need for a traditional utility wallet by building that functionality directly into your phone.

Daily Case attaches via the included adhesive Velcro to any inexpensive iPhone case. Apply it to a basic phone cover and you're ready to go. It can also be removed whenever needed.

Key Features

- EDC utility built into your phone cover
- Peek, load, switch, and card-to-wallet capabilities
- Inspired by SUC-style utility principles
- Attaches to any inexpensive iPhone case using included adhesive Velcro
- Fully removable and repositionable
- Looks like a normal phone cover in use
- No additional wallet required
- Designed for real-world, everyday carry
- Includes performance and tutorial videos covering use, care, and routines

Compatibility