

The Cheat (Red) by Joel Dickinson

A peek device that completely vanishes.

The Cheat is a direct, incredibly easy-to-use system for secretly gaining access to written or drawn information.

Your participant writes or draws something. The information is hidden, yet you are able to reveal exactly what they are thinking.

Use it to peek:

- Drawings
- Playing cards
- Numbers
- Personal information

With most peek devices, a lot of thought goes into making them resemble natural, everyday objects. The Cheat is different. It doesn't need to look natural.. because it already is.

Transform your playing card box into a peek tool that literally vanishes.

The secret becomes part of something that was never suspicious in the first place.

The gimmick can be brought into play and taken out of play during the performance. It remains under your control throughout, without creating an awkward moment or drawing attention to the method.

Multiple handlings are taught, allowing you to choose the approach that best suits your performance style and the situation.

Each Cheat is handmade and designed to be simple, practical and deceptive. Once you understand how it works, you can concentrate entirely on the participant and the revelation rather than worrying about the mechanics.

Easy to learn. Easy to perform. Impossible to backtrack.
