

CODED by Adam Fahn

CODED

is a professional utility gimmick that lets you secretly identify and distinguish seemingly identical props in full view of your audience, with nothing to hide and nowhere to hide it.

The method is near invisible. The applications near limitless.

Whether you're running a Sneak Thief, a Second Spot, a Kurotsuke, or your own bespoke routine, CODED gives you the knowledge you need the moment you need it. Use it with pads and pens, boxes and silks, tubes, packets, jars - the gimmick is always there, hidden in plain site.

If you have multiple identical props, CODED can mark them.