

Color Changing Hanky With Flower Production

The magician displays a large black silk. With a touch of magic, he produces a bouquet of yellow flowers from its folds. As he passes the flowers over the silk, it instantly turns yellow!

He then produces a bouquet of red flowers and waves it over the now-yellow silk: as if by magic, the silk turns red!

For the grand finale, a bouquet of blue flowers appears. Brushing it against the silk, the color changes once again and becomes a deep blue!

- A magical effect that is easy to perform, lively, and highly visual.
- Takes up very little space and is perfect for any audience: children, families, and stage performances.