

Foursome by Harry Robson

Foursome by Harry Robson is an incredible multiphase routine packed with a kicker ending nobody sees coming.

Battle-tested in professional walk-around and parlor sets for over 30 years, this blockbuster routine is suitable for all skill levels. It is an ultimate everyday carry (EDC) miracle that lives right in your wallet, ready to go at a moment's notice-and it can even be performed with a borrowed deck.

This "pack small, play big" routine is built for versatility. Whether you are performing for intimate groups at a cocktail party or large banquet tables, it actively involves multiple spectators to get the whole room hooked.

The Effect

- The Setup: A single prediction is openly placed in full view.
- The Selection: Three different spectators select cards-unfortunately, none of them match the prediction.
- The Twist: You tear the prediction card into four pieces. When turned over, the pieces miraculously transform to match all three selected cards!
- The Kicker: A fourth spectator is asked which card they chose. "I didn't choose a card," they reply. You flip over the final piece to reveal those exact words printed right on it.
