

Mind Ball by larvel Magic - Bühnentrick

Here's how it works - show your spectators a beautiful wooden box and let them choose any colored ball from inside. You can leave the room or even get blindfolded, and when you come back, you'll immediately know the color of the ball without even looking inside the box. You can also have several spectators each take one ball out of the box and hide them out of sight, and at a later time, you can reveal who took which ball from the box.

The magic doesn't stop there - you can let one spectator take one ball out of the box and close it, and you'll still know exactly which colored ball was taken out. You can even have one or two spectators take turns taking balls from different places, and you'll know exactly where each ball is.
