DIMENSION

is an impossible effect in which different objects seem to become connected in a completely inexplicable way.

The spectator signs a playing card, which is then lost in the deck. Next, they can sign a coin or even use their own ring. From that moment on, the impossible begins: that object becomes the key to locating the selected card in a surprising and highly visual way. The possibility of using personal objects from the spectator makes the effect even stronger, more personal, and seemingly impossible to explain.

Ideal for close-up magic, table hopping, cocktail events, and professional performances.

- Signed card
- Signed coin
- Can also be performed with a ring
- An impossible encounter
