Introducing Voodoo Playing Cards - Emi Standard Edition

Die-cut Threshold Tuck Box

The first card does not hide, it greets you. Our die-cut tuck box reveals it peering gently beyond the veil, beyond the box itself. Before you even open the deck, an invitation has already been extended. A face. A symbol. A quiet welcome. Hold the box and feel the threshold give way.

There is no barrier here. Only the courage to pierce the veil and confront what waits on the other side.

Court Cards

Peer into the washed black and ashy white palette of the court cards, and behold the archetypes, guardians, and witnesses who stand at the threshold. Backed by soft inverse color blocks, each figure is rendered with quiet confidence.

The Standard Edition court cards are not what they seem. The two-way illustrations reveal the spirit forms of your companions yet remain fully functional for traditional play. No UV light needed. Simply turn the card and their spiritual powers are revealed.

Number Cards

The numbers do not sit cleanly on every card. Each pip and numeral appears chipped, carved, weathered by ritual and time, redrawn from altar carvings and weathered stone. The expressive typeface, much like hand-struck symbols, grounds them in the same washed black and ashy white.

Card Backs

Designed for the discerning player, this deck features clay gray and obsidian black gilded edges. A simple riffle becomes a study in contrast, clay gray soft and matte like dried earth, obsidian black glassy and smooth like polished volcanic stone. Together, they turn with a quiet rhythm, one edge absorbing, the other whispering back. An honest touch of clay and the cool glance of stone.

NOTE: This version IS NOT INCLUDED magnetic doll, collectable coin and flashlight (sold separately).
